Plaintiffs,

Case No. 13-02311-JSR

v.

KANGADIS FOODS INC., d/b/a THE GOURMET FACTORY,

Defendant.

Declaration

COLIN B. WEIR

August 26, 2013

I, Colin B. Weir, declare as follows:

I am Vice President at Economics and Technology, Inc. ("ETI"), One Washington Mall, 15th Floor, Boston, Massachusetts 02108. ETI is a research and consulting firm specializing in economics, statistics, regulation and public policy.

I. QUALIFICATIONS, BACKGROUND, AND EXPERIENCE

1. I hold a Masters of Business Administration, with honors from the High Technology program at Northeastern University, Boston, Massachusetts. I hold a Bachelor of Arts degree cum laude in Business Economics from The College of Wooster, Wooster, Ohio. I have provided expert testimony before federal and state courts, the Federal Communications Commission, and state regulatory commissions, and have contributed research and analysis to numerous ETI publications and expert testimony at the state, federal, and international levels. I have consulted on a variety of consumer and wholesale products cases, calculating damages relating to household appliances, herbal remedies, electronics, and computers. My Statement of Qualifications, which outlines my professional experience, publications, and record of expert testimony, is annexed as Exhibit 1 hereto. This includes a list of all cases in which, during the previous four years, I have testified as an expert at trial or by deposition. Prior to joining ETI, I worked at Stop and Shop Supermarkets for a period of seven years, working as a cash department head, grocery/receiving clerk, and price-file maintenance head.

II. ENGAGEMENT

2. I have been advised by counsel for plaintiffs that a putative class of individuals purchased Capatriti products¹ expecting to receive "100% Pure Olive Oil," a product claim made by Defendant Kangadis Foods conspicuously all over the packaging of the product. Instead, the customers received a different, inferior product — Pomace. I have been asked by counsel for plaintiffs to determine whether, as a matter of economics, consumers view Pomace as an inferior product to 100% Pure Olive Oil. I have also been asked to provide a framework for and an assessment of damages and harm suffered by the class of plaintiffs resulting from false claims made by Defendant. ETI is being compensated at the rate of $450 per hour for my work on this case.

III. MARKET DATA DEMONSTRATE THAT POMACE IS AN INFERIOR PRODUCT

3. As a threshold matter in the assessment of damages in this case, it is important to examine whether or not consumers do actually view Pomace as an inferior product relative to 100% Pure Olive Oil.

4. I have reviewed pricing information provided in this case which suggests that Pomace is priced lower than 100% Pure Olive Oil.² I have conducted independent pricing research that confirms that Pomace commands a lower price than 100% Pure Olive Oil.³ I have also spot-checked local grocery stores and again confirmed that Pomace sells for less than 100% Pure Olive Oil (for comparable brands and volumes).⁴ Indeed, Defendant's own filings in a parallel action express concern that notifying customers that its Capatriti 100% "Pure Olive Oil" brand was instead Pomace would cause sales to plummet.⁵

5. Economic theory suggests that, when faced with the purchase of two goods or products that consumers perceive as identical in nature and quality but different in price, the

³ See Exhibit 2 attached hereto; see also, footnote 7 infra.

⁴ I reviewed pricing at Shaw's Supermarket, 53 Huntington Ave.; Stop and Shop, 1100 Massachusetts Ave.; and Foodie's, 1421 Washington St. all in Boston, MA.

⁵ Defendant's Memorandum Of Law In Opposition To Plaintiff's Motion For A Preliminary Injunction, North American Olive Oil Association v. Kangadis Food, Inc., Docket No. 13-cv-0868.

rational consumer will choose to purchase the lower priced product.⁶ Thus, given that Pomace is priced at or below comparable brands and volumes of 100% Pure Olive Oil, economic theory would teach that, since Pomace carries a lower price, if Pomace and 100% Pure Olive Oil were perceived as identical or equivalent products, Pomace should outsell 100% Pure Olive Oil. However, if Pomace, with its lower price were to be outsold by 100% Pure Olive Oil, it would be a clear indication that, from an economic perspective, consumers perceive — and value — Pomace as an inferior product.

6. I have reviewed actual olive oil category sales data for the Wakefern Corporation.⁷ Wakefern is one of the largest grocery cooperatives operating in the United States, and is the corporate entity behind the ShopRite and PriceRite brand of grocery stores. Headquartered in New Jersey, Wakefern and its operators run over 300 grocery stores in the northeastern US, with stores in New Jersey, New York, Connecticut, Delaware, Maryland, and Pennsylvania. The Wakefern database is comprised of 52 weeks of retail sales data ending September 5, 2010, and contains dollar and unit quantities, product descriptions and unit volumes (ounces) for sales to actual consumers.

7. The database contains records reflecting sales of over 5.3-million units of a variety of olive oil category products. Of those 5.3-million units in the database, some 4.8-million units — nearly 90% — are either Extra Virgin Olive Oil or 100% Pure Olive Oil. The majority of the remaining 10% are also non-Pomace products. But even if that 10% were all Pomace, it is clear that 100% Olive Oil products outsell Pomace by a wide margin.

8. My independent research at local grocery stores confirms that Pomace makes up a very small fraction of olive oil category products available for purchase, if and where Pomace is indeed available at all.

⁶ Case and Fair, Principles of Microeconomics, 8th Edition; see also, Hubbard and O'Brien, Economics, 2nd Edition.

⁷ See Exhibit 3 attached hereto.

9. Given the pricing and sales volume data I have reviewed, I have determined that Pomace is an economically inferior product to 100% Pure Olive Oil.

IV. FRAMEWORK FOR DAMAGES

10. There are two type of damages calculations at issue in this case:

- Full Compensatory damages (wherein consumers would receive a full refund for their purchases of Capatriti)
- Difference in Value damages (wherein consumers would receive the difference between the purchase price of Capatriti or actual 100% Pure Olive Oil, and the price of Pomace)

11. There is also a jurisdictional nuance that must be taken into consideration:

- New Jersey Statute Annotated 56:8-19 (treble damages)

12. For purposes of my analysis, I have used a class period of January 2007 - March 2013.⁸

Full Compensatory Damages

13. Under a damages framework awarding full recovery, classwide damages are easily calculated as:

$$\begin{aligned} & \text{Average Retail Purchase Price Per Ounce of Capatriti} \\ & \times \text{Number of Ounces Sold} \\ & = \text{Full Compensatory Damages} \end{aligned}$$

⁸ Plaintiffs counsel has advised me that counsel for Defendants have represented that the product has been sold since "late 2006." However, the precise date when production began has not yet been disclosed. As such, I have assumed January 2007 to be conservative.

14. It is my understanding that the discovery process is ongoing, and that counsel for plaintiffs are still awaiting documents relating to the average retail purchase price of Capatriti. Prior to the completion of discovery, I have estimated the average retail purchase price of Capatriti based upon Defendant Kangadis' production of wholesale records for the period January 1, 2009 through March 31, 2013. This data shows that retailers, such as Wakefern and Stop and Shop, paid 8.9 cents on average per ounce of Capatriti.⁹ Assuming only a 35% wholesale to retail market markup,¹⁰ the average retail price per ounce of Capatriti would be 12 cents.

15. I am similarly awaiting complete data as to the number of ounces of Capatriti sold during the class period. Using the same wholesale data provided by Defendants, there were at least 471,270,596 ounces of Capatriti sold between January 2009 and March 2013. Based upon sales trends in that data, I extrapolated sales for the remainder of the class period. I have estimated sales of approximately 205.7-million ounces during 2007 and 2008 bringing the total to 677-million ounces during the class period.¹¹

16. Using this framework and the data presently available to me, I have estimated Full Compensatory Damages to be:

$$$0.12/\text{ounce} \times 677\text{-million ounces} = $81.24\text{-million}$$

⁹ Bates Kangadis 000022-58, as summarized in Exhibit 4 attached hereto; and Bates Kangadis_Ebin000000001-469, as summarized in Exhibit 5 attached hereto.

¹⁰ I reviewed the gross margin of several large, publicly traded grocers to determine typical industry wholesale markups. To be conservative, I have adopted a markup of 35%, lower than any of the companies I reviewed.

| Company | Sales | Cost of Goods Sold | Gross Margin/ Wholesale Markup |
|-------------|----------------|--------------------|-----------------------------------|
| Whole Foods | $11.7-billion | $7.5-billion | 56% |
| Publix | $27.5-billion | $19.9-billion | 38% |
| Winn Dixie | $6.9-billion | $5-billion | 38% |
| Safeway | $44.2-billion | $32.5-billion | 35% |

See, Wholefoods 2012 10-K annual report, Publix 2012 10-K annual report, Winn Dixie 2011 10-K annual report, Safeway 2012 10-K annual report as filed with the US Securities and Exchange Commission.

¹¹ See footnote 9, supra.

Difference in Value Damages

17. I understand that in his order addressing subject matter jurisdiction, Judge Rakoff suggested a method of calculating Difference in Value damages. Class members would recover the difference between what they paid (for Capatriti), and what they received (Pomace). Such damages would be calculated as:

$$\begin{aligned} & \text{Average Retail Purchase Price Per Ounce of Capatriti} \\ & - \text{Average Retail Purchase Price Per Ounce of Pomace} \\ & = \text{Net Price Premium Per Ounce} \\ & \times \text{Number of Ounces Sold} \\ & = \text{Difference in Value Damages} \end{aligned}$$

18. Under an alternate damages framework awarding Difference in Value damages, class members would recover the cash difference between the price of the product that was advertised (100% Pure Olive Oil) and what they received (Pomace.) Such damages would be calculated as:

$$\begin{aligned} & \text{Average Retail Purchase Price Per Ounce of 100\% Pure Olive Oil} \\ & - \text{Average Retail Purchase Price Per Ounce of Pomace} \\ & = \text{Net Price Premium Per Ounce} \\ & \times \text{Number of Ounces Sold} \\ & = \text{Alternate Difference in Value Damages} \end{aligned}$$

19. As above, prior to the completion of discovery, I have estimated the price per ounce of Capatriti to be approximately 12 cents, and the number of ounces sold to be approximately 677-million. However, at this time, prior to the completion of discovery, I do not have an available estimate of the average, classwide price of 100% Pure Olive Oil or Pomace.¹²

¹² It should be noted however, that my research has indicated that, for comparable brands and volumes, 100% Pure Olive Oil does carry a price premium over Pomace.

Subclass Nuances

New Jersey Subclass

20. I have been advised by counsel that NJSA 56:18-19 provides for treble damages. As such, damages for a New Jersey subclass would be calculated under either theory as above, and then multiplied by 3.

21. The purchases of a New Jersey subclass would necessarily need to be subtracted from the total nationwide purchases of Capatriti for determining nationwide, non-New Jersey damages.

V. RESERVATION OF RIGHTS

22. These calculations and estimates are based on the data available to me. I understand that additional, different and/or updated data may be obtained in advance of trial. I therefore reserve the right to amend or modify my calculations and my testimony.

VERIFICATION

I declare under penalty of perjury that the foregoing is true and correct to the best of my knowledge, information, and belief, and that this declaration was executed at Boston, Massachusetts, this 26th day of August, 2013.
